THE 2008 TAVISTOCK CUP TEAMS ANNOUNCED

Els, O'Meara, Rose and Tiger Return for the Crosstown Rivalry

ORLANDO, Fla. – March 11, 2008 –The competition is heating up as Team Captains Mark O'Meara and Ernie Els prepare to lead their team of fellow Isleworth and Lake Nona members in the 2008 Tavistock Cup presented by Citi Private Bank.

Some of golf's biggest names are returning for another year of competition while others will be making their Tavistock Cup debut. Held Monday and Tuesday, March 24 and 25 at Isleworth Golf & Country Club, the Tavistock Cup is a unique competition bringing together crosstown rivals in the ultimate showdown to determine the World Golf and Country Club Champion. Players will compete for a purse of $3.88 million and team hole-in-one prizes including 2009 Cadillac Escalade hybrids, Correct Craft Air Nautique boats, Full Swing Golf simulators and more.

"This invitation-only event for members and residents, sponsors and invited guests, is truly unlike anything in the game of golf," said Andy Odenbach, vice president of sports ventures for Tavistock Group. "That same uniqueness is found in the charity element of Tavistock Cup, in which $1 million is donated on behalf of the winning team to the charities of their choice."

Mark O'Meara returns as captain for Team Isleworth and is joined by teammates Robert Allenby, Stuart Appleby, Daniel Chopra, John Cook, Paula Creamer, J.B. Holmes, Charles Howell III, Nick O'Hern, Craig Parry and Tiger Woods. Chopra, Creamer and Holmes are making their Tavistock Cup debuts.

The combined members of Isleworth and Lake Nona have won a total of 48 major championships and more than 700 career worldwide victories. Eleven of the top 50 men in the world will be competing along with two of the world's top five women. Isleworth professional members have already racked up an astounding eight victories in the first two months of 2008.

The fifth annual Tavistock Cup will be televised live in the U.S., Canada and Japan on The Golf Channel and to over 40 countries around the globe through a network of international affiliates. TavistockCup.com will also feature real-time live scoring of the matches.

ABOUT TAVISTOCK GROUP

Tavistock Group is a private investment company founded by Joe Lewis. The Group has grown to encompass a broad portfolio of investments around the world in the following sectors: life sciences, sports teams (Tottenham Hotspur Football Club) and sporting events (Tavistock Cup, Isleworth Collegiate Invitational), manufacturing (Bristol Motor Cars) and distribution (Puma, Gottex, Vans), oil and gas, financial services, restaurants (California Café, Napa Valley Grille), and private luxury residential properties and master-planned real estate developments.

Private club communities include Isleworth and Lake Nona Golf & Country Club both located in Orlando, Florida. Lake Nona forms a cornerstone holding to the Group's current innovative, 7,000-acre mixed-use development plan highlighted by a life sciences cluster known as Lake Nona's medical city. Tavistock Group, Tiger Woods and Ernie Els have recently broken ground on Albany, a luxury beach resort community on the island of New Providence in The Bahamas. Albany will feature a broad array of amenities for all members of the family including an Ernie Els-designed 18-hole championship golf course and a mega-yacht marina flanked by luxury apartment homes designed by some of the most respected architects in the world.

Tavistock Group also announced its partnership with the Jamaican Government's Harmonization Ltd. to jointly plan and develop 2,350 oceanfront acres on the country's northern coast in Trelawny Parish. The development is designed to reclaim the age of luxury in Jamaica and will include several hotels, gaming lounge, three golf courses, retail shops, restaurants and mega-yacht marina making it the definitive premier resort destination in the Caribbean.
